

KLUANE FIRST NATION WASH HOUSE

BURWASH LANDING, YUKON

The Kluane First Nation constructed a 96 square metre building featuring showers and laundry facilities for its members who don't currently have access to running water. Kobayashi + Zedda Architects recognized the communal nature of the building and decided to create social and sitting areas inside and outside of the building. Assisting the building to blend in to the landscape, a colour scheme was chosen to represent colours found in the surrounding environment.