

KWANLIN DUN FIRST NATIONS ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

WHITEHORSE, YUKON

The addition to the main KDFN administration building provides a new and welcoming face to the community. Outdoor deck areas, south exposure, the use of local wood for siding and interior finishes help convey familiarity and provide a friendly, community-centred environment. The building addition provided additional offices, meeting rooms and a new reception / waiting area. Building forms, colours and the heavy timber entry convey openness and a welcoming image. The location of main entry doors towards a southerly exposure encourages community members to utilize outdoor deck and seating areas.